May 20-22 Canadian Sport Film Festival

What plans do you have for the May long weekend? The 8th Annual Canadian Sport Film Festival is being held at the TIFF Bell Lightbox from Friday, May 20 to Sunday, May 22. Again this year, there's a great lineup of films. This year features more local content than ever before. From the basketball program at Eastern Commerce ("Eastern"), to a storied boxing gym ("Sully's"), to the intense popularity of volleyball in Chinatown ("9-Man"), audiences will get a unique inside look at how sports affect many in our very own streets. You can visit www.sportfilmfestival.ca to view the entire program and to purchase tickets.

City of Toronto Parks and Recreation Facilities Master Plan

The first phase of the City of Toronto's Facilities Master Plan (FMP) is complete. The second phase of consultation will launch in fall 2016. The fall consultation will focus on getting feedback on the FMP's proposed directions and recommendations. This phase will include an online public survey along with additional consultation activities. The City's goal is to continue to engage as many people as possible and to ensure that we get feedback from a wide range of people and groups that represent Toronto's diverse communities. It's important that the needs of sport groups are heard. Details are available on the FMP website.

Sport and Collective Impact

The TSC has expanded its collective impact efforts to the Rexdale community of Toronto. In addition to being engaged in the East Scarborough Multi-Sport Collaborative for the past few years, a new collaborative has been developing in the North-West corner of Toronto. The Rexdale Multi-Sport collaborative is a 'Sport for Development' project that is using quality multi-sport experiences to support youth in developing job skills and competencies through sport. Both collective impact projects are totally inclusive and all sport organizations are invited to participate in these initiatives. For more information, please contact jeff@torontosportscouncil.ca
